This suggests that patients with acne may benefit from increased omega-3 fatty acid or γ -linoleic acid consumption, for example through increased fish consumption. The trend has been strengthened in Birmingham by the decline in the relative importance of those trades for which a smaller scale was economically practical, and by the elimination in other trades of the smaller firms which failed to or could not afford to adopt the new techniques. Harvey du Cros, who was associated with Dunlop Rubber Company, Clipper Pneumatic Tyre, the Components Tube Company, and, later, with the Austin Motor Company, was an outstanding personality in these promotions.
