Summary Statement

People-centred development strategies must systematically consider changes in the number, age and location of people; and use population data and projections to inform development goals, targets and indicators, as well as policies and programmes.

International Conference on Population and Development

The death rate is the number of deaths per 1000 people every year.

Summary Statement

The official spokesman for the Holy See was archbishop.

Human Population Growth

Policy actions can ameliorate environmental decline — as in the case of emissions standards — or exacerbate degradation as in the case in Central Asia's Aral Sea basin, which has shrunk 40 percent since 1960 and has become increasingly contaminated, in large part because of the irrigation policies of the former Soviet Union. Link to Learning Click through this of how human populations have changed over time. However, these treaties have not been ratified by every country, and many underdeveloped countries trying to improve their economic condition may be less likely to agree with such provisions if it means slower economic development.

Sustainable Development and Population Dynamics: Placing People at the Centre

The rapid growth diagram narrows to a point, indicating that the number of individuals decreases rapidly with age.
