Humanising Imprisonment: A European project?, European Journal on Criminal Policy and Research

For it is in this domain that the consequences of a violation of the basic principles laid down in the Convention could weigh most heavily on the individual. The Member States and the Union must seek to establish the conditions required for human genetics to prosper and determine when Europe should act.

Spanish public awareness regarding DNA profile databases in forensic genetics: what type of DNA profiles should be included?

Above all, how just is it that a single company should be allowed to determine when and how to disseminate new knowledge that is bound to have a huge impact on the health of humanity as a whole? Embryos may not be destroyed, and it is an offence to fertilise an oocyte not intended for a pregnancy; it is forbidden to separate and use totipotent embryonal cells for research and diagnosis. The points below, relating to the matters discussed above, summarise some avenues to explore to help foster discussion with and among all those active in the field and with civil society on Union action seeking to provide genuine value added in relation to the national policies on human genetics, which might even be put forward as a European model in the international context. Schimbul de date cu caracter personal face, de asemenea, obiectul eforturilor de a se asigura o societate care garantează siguranța și securitatea.
