This collection of long-lost images by Robert French, exhumed by the late Kieran Hickey from the Lawrence Photograph Collection at the National Library of Ireland, and selected and enlarged in the manner of Antonioni, were first published in 1982 and have long been out of print. Long-departed Dubliners candidly return the reader's gaze as they bustle through busy streets or take their ease in spacious parks.

Very little wear and tear. No missing or damaged pages, no creases or tears, no underlining or highlighting of text, and no writing in the margins. Complimented by Des Hickey's piquant introduction, they recreate the very atmosphere of Joyce's Bloomsday.
