Admiral Art McDonald Appointed Canada's new Chief of the Defence Staff

Accordingly, the Monarch is commander-in-chief of the , and serves as chief diplomatic official abroad and as a symbol of unity. Yet he has also faced his share of criticism over the years, including over his decision to suspend Mark Norman in 2017, more than a year before the now-retired vice-admiral was charged with breach of trust. He will continue the important work and transformation of the Canadian Armed Forces, ensuring that it better represents the Canadians it serves.
