Savings bonds, retractable bonds and callable bonds

So, you want to hold some money for emergency purposes. Then, the demand for real money balances is proportional to aggregate output.

Lecture 15 Notes

The demand for money should depend on the value of transactions. Therefore, people generally prefer a mixed diversified portfolio of money, bonds and shares, with each person opting for a little different balance between riskiness and return.

Lecture 15 Notes

This is because inflation reduces the value of their money balances in terms of its power to purchase goods and services. Thus, the total value of transactions made is equal to PT. Thus at the high current rate of interest Or, a very small amount OM is
