Cowan

This is the mountain dew, that which fired the bellies of the Fayette County boys in Pennsylvania in the Whiskey Rebellion and smoked the morning valleys of the Appalachians from West Virginia to Georgia. Knowing, however, that they would be pursued, they succeeded in getting the men at the Post to conceal their refugee in the cellar of the store, and a messenger was sent in haste to notify the settlement in I believe Blount County, Tennessee.

She worked in an era in which a woman's research goals entailed membership in the DAR.

Person: William Cowan (26)

It is believed that these seven Cowan brothers came to America on this boat and settled in Chester County, Pennsylvania. Her married name was Richmond.

If so, this places the DOM for this couple at 1723 at the latest. I recall particularly a John Cowan from Perth who settled in what is now Blair County, Pennsylvania and who was a contemporary of Hugh Cowan in Chester and Lancaster County.

Person: Hugh Cowan (4)

Sept 1785 married John W.

Cowan

I guess the result is the same if you follow either Major John back you get to Samuel Cowan.

North Carolina Estate Files, Rowan County Index

The reports of John's children made absolutely clear that the father and mother and three of their children were born in Ireland. The following is based on. A Parke family history makes the same claim, and Fleming footnotes the undated work of Mrs.
