Oregon Secretary of State Administrative Rules

Parties may obtain discovery by one or more of the following methods: depositions on oral examination or written questions; production of documents or things or permission to enter land or other property for inspection and other purposes; physical and mental examinations; and requests for admission. For purposes of this subsection, a statement previously made is either: a written statement signed or otherwise adopted or approved by the person making it; or a stenographic, mechanical, electrical, or other recording, or a transcription that is a substantially verbatim recital of an oral statement by the person making it and contemporaneously recorded. You may note occasional incorrect spelling of words and formatting errors.

State of Oregon: Laws and rules

For all forms of discovery, parties may inquire regarding any matter, not privileged, that is relevant to the claim or defense of the party seeking discovery or to the claim or defense of any other party, including the existence, description, nature, custody, condition, and location of any books, documents, or other tangible things, and the identity and location of persons having knowledge of any discoverable matter. Unless otherwise limited by order of the court in accordance with these rules, the scope of discovery is as follows: B 1 In general.
