The Window on the South: 2011

Who I am today is bound up with who I was then — and all of it is tied to the secrets my family kept hidden.

Elizabitchez: 2010

Though MGM announced the project for a dizzying array of stars in both the female and male leads — among the candidates to play the woman were June Allyson and Gloria DeHaven, while Frank Sinatra, Gene Kelly and Peter Lawford were considered for the man — the people they ended up with, Judy Garland and Van Johnson, were near-perfect for the roles. Ishiguro, Kazuo - The Remains of the Day 52.

The Three Musketeers

For one thing, you always have to be on your game, on the lookout for anything slanted 24- 40. But here's a few things that I want in a better world: 20 hour work weeks.

It's So Classic Tag

Lucy always manages to come up with these zingy little one liners that are hysterical, but you have to pay close attention or you will miss out. A further textual footnote: Although the prayer falls in the second omission of the shorter recension, the Ciniraj text shorter recension introduces the prayer independently in one of its numerous interpolations.

The Klaw 101; or, the Klaw 100, version 2.

Ship of Fools Pullman, Philip. Where would you rather be? My first book for this challenge could be one of the very best. Between the Acts — Virginia Woolf 72.

Nicolas Fouquet

The Ciniraj version has another lengthy interpolation at this point. It rots our brains and souls and hearts the same way plaque rots your teeth.

LATEST ARRIVALS

None of these change the fact that is a delightful film that I will be sure to enjoy again in the future. In particular, I had a wonderful time watching these three dance their way through a local circus.
