

At the southeastern outskirts of town, Payne's Prairie Preserve State Park protects 19,000 acres of wildlife-rich wetland. As a resident, you know your town is more than just the University of Florida and college sports—although gameday in the Swamp is pretty cool even when it's hot out Go

Gators! Residents are committed to preserving their natural, north Florida surroundings, celebrating the arts, and cultivating an open attitude toward all comers. We are the ones we decide how we feel, how we look at things, how we react.
