Praeger - Explaining Theories of Economic Growth

4. Applications of Development Theory to Tourism

- MT: Little direct theorising but default approach of most social scientists & policy makers. Commodification, authenticity, modernity, economic growth. Extends into neoliberal approach: tourism = increased growth = free market = development. Largely descriptive
- UOT/World Systems. Preferred position of radical critics (e.g. Britton, 1989). Against international capital but rarely adopted by policymakers, who want more tourists. Advocates role for state. Exceptions: Tanzania & Jamaica in 1970s.
- Sustainable tourism development. Useful guidelines but neither a theory nor a paradigm. A politically correct term to use in development plans.
- Alternative tourism? Residual category = everything except mass tourism.
- Ecotourism? Usually = small-scale & indigenously owned.
