D'ye ken Wully Trummel, Whae's shop stands richt opposite Galashiels Brig? The wind it comes snelly, and scatters the leaves, John Frost on the windows a fairy web weaves; The robin is singing, and black is the slae, Sae I'll aff'to the hills w' my dragon the day! And maybe a tear will the wee bookie stain, When ye read o' the widow and fatherless wean! No oor Jamie, for he is sleepin' soun', Like a bonnie rose-bud in the month o' June. Uncle Jamie had a mill, And a mousie it intil, W' a little bell to ring, And a jumping jack to fling; And a drummer, rud-de-dud, On a little drum to thud, And a mounted bold dragoon, Riding a' the lave aboon.

But hope whispers sweetly, ne'er broken shall be The tie that unites my sweet baby and me.

Wee Willie Winkie

O' the high and the low, o' the bound and the free! Gaun to the kirk the ither day she sees a duddie wean, W' could bare feat and brackit face, sit sabbin' on a stane; She slipt the penny in his haun' I gie'd her for the plate; The kirks wad fa' if folk were a' like our wee Kate. But heaven tak's the fruit tho' earth forsake the tree; And we mourn our fairy blossoms, a' the sweeter they were wee. Gallop went the bold dragoon, As he'd gallop owen the moon! Ne'er may poortith cauld and eerie Mak' thy heart o' kindness wearie; Nor misfortune, sharp and stern, Blight thy bloom, my bonnie bairn.
