Prof. Hugh S. Torrens

Two brothers, Samuel and William Phillips, were silk manufacturers there in 1818. In 1863 the Leek and Moorlands Permanent Benefit Building Society, established in 1856, offered 44 building lots for sale in the two new streets and in Derby Street, Stockwell Street which had been widened and raised to improve access, and Market Street. Due to the increasing need of society for healthcare spaces and their high level of construction, standard regulations should be regarded in cost optimization and increasing productivity and quality in order to maintain national assets for future generations.
