Tenrikyō

I hope that through Japan Tourist people will come to see the real Japan and learn a little more about the Nara I have come to know that you won't really learn about in guide books. Tenri university is well known for its foreign language programs and originally started off as a private language school .

TENRI UNIVERSITY

More than 200 churches have been established in other countries, including the United States, Brazil, Korea, China, the Philippines; they serve mainly Japanese living abroad. The Faculty of Budo and Sport Studies expanded its programs in order to correspond to a variety of social needs. The world is said to have been created here, and from the jiba salvation will finally be extended to the entire world.

Tenketsu

Tenrikyō was one of the most powerful religious movements in Japan immediately before and has retained a large following. The compound is well known as a place to view beautiful azalea blossoms.

Tenri University (Fees & Reviews): Japan

I originally lived in Takamatsu, Kagawa prefecture in 1987 and then moved to Osaka. The first head of this once majestic temple was a noted priest by the name of Muso Soseki. Tenri has an estimated population of about 69,149 people October 2010 and is sister city to La Serena in Chile, since 1966, Seosan in South Korea and Bauru in Brazil.

Tenketsu

The Yamato region, famous for its rich historical and cultural heritage and beautiful natural environment, is the home of Tenri University.

Tenketsu

Every member of Tenrikyō is expected to carry on missionary work.

Tenrikyō

The University also has two internationally renowned institutions affiliated with it—Tenri Central Library and Tenri Sankokan Museum. Tenrikyō was first considered a branch of the Yoshida sect of Shintō.

Tenri

Sister school relationships are maintained with over 30 universities in many countries; exchange programs with these institutions include collaboration in education and research, exchanges of students and faculty, and goodwill sports tournaments. The Faculty of Budo and Sport Studies has produced a number of world class athletes while promoting international exchanges in various sports. Tenrikyō headquarters, Tenri city, Japan.
