The hamburger is easy -- stitch it for a magnet on your refrigerator! The club installed a six-foot steel fence and signs warning youngsters with a passion for sledding to keep their distance. If you post information related to any of our projects on blogs, websites, or other public forums, we ask that you please link back to this blog rather than copy and paste any of the information. Think about these for neat scrapbook ideas, or something fun to attach to a favorite picture frame as an added embellishment! Let's say that you are interested in doing one of these Easter Skits, but have a question as to whether or not you may change a few lines or add a character or two to help accommodate the needs of your group.

Animal Folklore: Chasing Hares Through Stories, Myth, and Legend

. Small and lightweight, they really glisten on your tree if they are near a twinkle light.

History of Christmas

In the midst of their discussion, Mary Magdalene rushes in claiming Jesus is not in the tomb. A Jeweled apple, and sparkly acorn, cute little hen, but best of all -- that darling Dracula and his favorite gravesite!!!! I THINK my favorite is the little spider, but I like Mr and Mrs Bones, too! Joining the collection of literally hundreds of these smaller paper and beaded pieces. Martin wrote some excellent songs elsewhere in collaboration with Ralph Blane, but as a solo songwriter he doesn't cut any ice sorry! Presented as small kits of 14ct perforated paper with beads and floss, they are a perfect tree ornament size, and since they are so lightweight, they hang perfectly where you put them on your branches.

Hans Brinker, or The Silver Skates

Recycling in those days meant tossing your empties on the side of the road.
