Clinical Practice Guidelines for Midwifery

Localities may restrict the amounts of alcohols that may be flushed down the drain; consult appropriate authorities. A lesion which is less uniform, but which is commonly found — in one section at least six were present — consists of small accumulations of cells in the substance of the malpighian bodies. If the glands are not readily exposed, a grooved director can be inserted beneath the peritoneum along the course of the ureter, when it can be slit open as far as necessary to make the glands accessible and easily removed.
