The Communist Party in the 1920s: The first decade of struggle

The CCC was established at the in September 1920, but rules organizing its procedure were not enacted before the 10th Congress. By the mid-1930's, Stalin had forcibly transformed the Soviet Union into a totalitarian regime and an industrial and political power. The convention passed Communist resolutions boycotting all ships flying the Nazi flag and called for the immediate release of Tom Mooney a San Francisco trade union leader framed for a bombing he did not commit and the Scottsboro Boys nine young African American men sentenced to death in Alabama on trumped up charges of raping two white women.

Communist Party

Earl Browder expected the wartime coalition between the Soviet Union and the West to bring about a prolonged period of social harmony after the war.

Totalitarianism: STALIN'S RUSSIA

The question remains: what led to the decline of the CP? While Stalin was never rehabilitated during this period, the most conservative journals in the country were allowed to highlight positive features of his rule.

The New Deal and the Popular Front

The Bolsheviks had rapidly increased their political presence from May onward through the popularity of their program, notably calling for an immediate end to the war, land reform for the peasants, and restoring food allocation to the urban population. From division to unity The Communists fought courageously in court for their principles and for democratic rights of free speech and assembly. The party attacked British Prime Minister and French leader , but it did not at first attack President Roosevelt, reasoning that this could devastate American Communism, blaming instead Roosevelt's advisors.

A short history of the Communist Party of Canada

This was true in coal, railroads, the building trades, electrical, packinghouse, metal mining, longshore and seamen, and more.

A short history of the Communist Party of Canada

However, there was a difference; after , Lenin argued that this did not necessarily have to change under the dictatorship of the proletariat. In 1949's , the FBI prosecuted eleven members of the Communist Party's leadership, including and. In 1925, the name of the party was changed to the All-Union Communist Party bolsheviks , reflecting that the republics outside of Russia proper were no longer part of an all-encompassing Russian state.

The Popular Front Didn't Work

The plan was fulfilled ahead of schedule in 1932.
