Ditella, Torcuato (1892)

In order to cater for the continued growth of the university, plans were made to construct a new building, which would be able to house an additional 1,000 students. I am so glad I elected to enroll in this course because it not only allowed me to spend more time in this beautiful country but I learned so much in just that first month and was able to adjust and adapt to the culture much quicker.
