Learning Environment

Occasionally the delivery of information will be more dynamic, with the lecturer facilitating interaction and discussion, which will of course excite and empower teachers to incorporate new ideas. Preventing School Failure, 52 2 , 31-47.

Differentiation In The Classroom: 8 Strategies That You'll Need

The development of supports within a classroom is generally known as differentiation.

Differentiation in the Art Room

This may include the support of another adult or a peer. To move everyone forward at the same pace, we need to ensure that concepts, facts and truths have been learnt, not performed. I have seen so many sincere attempts at differentiation that I believe amount to no more than window dressing: an example I keep running into is the addition of explanatory visuals to complex task instructions, in the hope that this will penetrate language processing difficulties.

Differentiation in the Primary Classroom (2)

It is only after this meeting that a nuanced and personalised differentiation can be planned according to the needs of the SEN individuals in each class. But, using a mastery-based approach, it is possible, and ultimately essential, to develop a differentiated classroom in primary school that accommodates the individual needs of all students to create a learning experience that works for all.
