Television and gender representation / Barrie Gunter

Disease recovery is an often slow and emotionally barren experience, devoid of physical or mental pleasure and devoid of elevated or transcendent experience, except perhaps in the recall and retelling though the audience is more often bored than receptive. This could arise because of a paucity of external stimulation isolation. Thus, the exact placement of the boundary between raw sensation and the cognitive processes responsible for constructing our global awareness of the world is somewhat arbitrary.

Seeing is believing: the effect of film on visitor numbers to screened locations

But could it explain lucky socks? But, maybe that would have brought up some wonderful stories; taken me to some spiritual sites. They are hitting the center of this city. Twice as many comments were about company A than about B 24 comments versus 12.

Seeing Is Believing, Unless It Isn't

But first, perhaps we should step back for a moment and ask the more fundamental question of why anything ever feels real.
