Library Automation: The Concept

BALLOTS Bibliographical Automation of Large Library Operations in the late 1970's was one of the first and later became the foundation for RLIN the Research Libraries Information Network.

Library Automation: The Concept

As such, a library system for the twenty-first century becomes less useful if it merely controls and organizes the number of holdings a library owns or only accommodates data for managing electronic content. The first use of the title, electronic resources librarian, did not occur until 1992 Fisher, 2003.

Library Automation.

If needs and priorities are clear, functions can be automated in phases, allowing for more effective use of frequently scarce funding. Consequently, information in the library cannot be used efficiently.
