Life of Bahá'u'lláh

Perseverance is an essential condition. Every Child is a Brilliant Star The Every Child teaching campaign that shows the importance and faith that Bahais have in children.

Family Life

Thus will be kindled the sense of human dignity and pride, to burn away the reappings of lustful appetites.

Brilliant Star

It is extremely difficult to teach the individual and refine his character once puberty is passed.

Teaching Children to Pray

It followeth that the children's school must be a place of utmost discipline and order, that instruction must be thorough, and provision must be made for the rectification and refinement of character; so that, in his earliest years, within the very essence of the child, the divine foundation will be laid and the structure of holiness raised up. We appreciate it very much! Teach them to dedicate their lives to matters of great import, and inspire them to undertake studies that will benefit mankind.

The Education of Children

For example, it is more common in the so-called Third World to find men who are Bahá'ís, in contrast to Western societies where Bahá'í women outnumber the Bahá'í men cf. Dr Rost, who teaches in the Faculty of Education at the University of Kenya, presents a brief historical outline of the Faith, and some basic concepts: what man is; how his spiritual and moral qualities affect his own life and that of his society; the influence of education, both in and out of school; the roles of the family, the teacher and the community; and the balance between spiritual and material considerations in education. The Bahá'í view of the family is best expressed in terms of the position of each individual member to each other to be equivalent to their relationship to God.

Brilliant Star

Let them share in every new and rare and wondrous craft and art. When people ask why I create for children, I have to take a deep breath, then ask: How can we NOT do it? The individual must be educated to such a high degree that he would rather have his throat cut than tell a lie, and would think it easier to be slashed with a sword or pierced with a spear than to utter calumny or be carried away by wrath. Here, you will find worksheets and activities that have been planned for different age group depending on their language and literacy level.
