Wat Phra That Chom Chaeng (Phrae)

Phranang Place - Ao Nang, Krabi Our location in Krabi close to the famous Ao Phranang Ao Nang Beach but fortunately away from the crowds, Phranang Place is the right choice to be in walking distance of several restaurants and the shopping market and of course the beach.

Wat Phra Nang Sang Temple in Thalang

Next to an immense and severe dark statue stands a tall unfinished concrete pagoda surrounded but derelict buffaloes forever pulling broken carriages. Born in France a long long time ago, I started to travel the world early and never stopped until I settled in Thailand in 1994.

Wat Phra That Chom Chaeng (Phrae)

As long as I have lived in Phuket there always have been unfinished buildings and no one working on them. King named the statue Phra Puttha Thrai Ratana Nayok after its restoration in 1854 CE.

Phra That Choeng Chum

For any other requests or inquiries our helpful personnel will assist and support you any time.

Phranang Place (Ao Nang)

The Wat has a beautiful altar with 3 big sculptures of the Lord Buddha seated, from which the biggest is at the centre.

Wat Phanan Choeng

Taking the opposite direction west on 21 Thang 8, 1 km gets to the Po Klong Garai towers and cultural center. Of rectangular shape, it is made of mortar and bricks with a height of 24 meters. Most interesting part was the colonnade of small figures on the approach, not something you would want to walk down in the dark! Via public transit, the temple may be reached from New Mor Chit station, where there are many buses to Ayutthaya every day.

Wat Phanan Choeng

. Their towers the 'Thap' are beautiful memorials to their kings and queens. Featured special hand carved Yant by LP Chamnan himself and series number 316.

Wat Phra That Chae Haeng (Phu Phiang)

Next to the wat area there is an entrance to the building where monks are studying. Cheap cost of living city and value for money.
