About Wilco

They were created in the same periods, with the initial purpose of offering farm loans.

Oregon Business

Food processing, like the frozen vegetable processing done by NORPAC, is one way agricultural producers have combined in co-operational business models, but they also have combined into banks and utilities like water and power companies. Since no investment can enter the cooperative by outsourcing, loss of profit impacts every member. Examples of agricultural production cooperatives include in , the in Israel, collectively governed , co-operatives and Nicaraguan production co-operatives.

Agricultural cooperative

While it may seem reasonable to conclude that larger the cooperative the better, this is not necessarily true.

State of Oregon: Oregon Department of Agriculture

It does not involve solving the problem, only recognizing there is a problem. Royer, Washington, DC: USDA ACS Service Report 18 July 1987 , pp.
