Japan Industry Sectors

The following types of Japanese product shipments represent positive net exports or a trade balance surplus for 2020. By the late 1970s, the computer, semiconductor, and other technology and information-intensive industries had entered a period of rapid growth.

Japan's Top 10 Exports 2020

Most of the concerns of the 1970s diminished in the 1980s. If such investments yield the desired productivity gains, they can also help to counteract the negative effects of a shrinking population on GDP growth.

Japan's Top Trading Partners 2020

However, real GDP remains more than 5% lower than a year earlier and the recovery is already facing several headwinds. But this also ended in Japan is the world's second-largest exporter of autos.

Export Information by Industry

As the international competitiveness of Japanese industry strengthened, exports increased and the trade surplus grew while at the same time the United State's trade deficit increased, so in response, in August 1971 the United States ceased the conversion of dollars to gold and established import surcharges.
