Martyn Lloyd-Jones set a new standard for faithful and passionate preaching, a standard that continues to be relevant today. This is called the Doctrine of Simplicity, not because it is simple but because God does not have parts.

Soli Deo Gloria

We believe in a plurality of equal elders in terms of church polity. I was thinking again this afternoon of the life of Elizabeth Elliot, missionary as she was to the Quichua Indians in the jungles of Ecuador, and working with two other women to reduce that language so as to produce a readable, practical knowledge of the Scriptures; and God providing in answer to her prayer, Macario, who was promptly murdered; and then, shortly after that, all of the manuscripts being stolen and never recovered; and then, marrying, as you recall, Jim Elliot, who within months of marriage, barely twenty-seven months of marriage, was murdered; and then, marrying yet again, the President of Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, who, within a few months of marriage contracted cancer and died; and the question coming into her mind, as it may well come into your mind in relation to events
