Frontiers

As the Dunnes illustrate, subjectivity necessitates an interpsychic dependence on an Other that our present-day society eschews in favor of the false notion of endless self-creation, just as Lacan predicted fifty years ago. Due to the inadequacy of signifying system, the desired object is never possible to acquire. In the FEP the brain acts having a model of the world, working through active inference generating actively predictions to minimize the variations of free energy maximizing Bayesian model evidence , providing a principled explanation for perceptual inference in the brain.

Psychoanalytic Feminism (Stanford Encyclopedia of Philosophy)

The ego, with its illusion of self-mastery and containment, is formed through misrecognition, an anticipatory identification with an idealized, stable, self-enclosed, citadel of self.

Aphanisis

Our hope is that this volume will analyze and clarify our intuition regarding the importance of self-esteem and that it will establish self-esteem at the center of our social science research agenda.

Lacanian Psychoanalysis

Freud's theories of sexuality and the unconscious implicate not only individual psychology but also the constitution of social life. Moreover, in explaining the advent of lawful existence, Freud identifies something recalcitrant, intractable in social arrangements—a kind of self-assault the super-ego that links pleasure with aggression, and thus that carries a potentially destabilizing force. Over the past decade, concerns about child abuse led first to development of experimental efforts and then to communitywide prevention programs.

Boredom: An Uncanny Guide to Something Unknown

only because of Bell's uncertainties, but because of an argument put forward by Brumberg, that the symptom of restricted eating was only one component of a complex pattern of behaviour, which included violence directed towards the self Brumberg, 1988. But our hope is that self-esteem and personal and social responsibility will be our legacy, what we leave behind for our children.

Benvenuto 2016 , that boredom can be conceived as the disillusionment of one who believed in a promise that was not kept and was thus deceptive. This is how anorexic and bulimic behaviour is understood by Boris 1984a, 1984b, 1988.

One Self or Many Selves?

The first was to compile research concerning the role of self-esteem as a possible causal factor in six areas of major social concern: crime and violence, alcohol and drug abuse, teenage pregnancy, child abuse, chronic welfare dependency, and educational failure. It should be noted, however, that both the inner and outer dimensions of self-esteem can be seen as belonging in a sociological frame of reference Franks and Marolla 1976. ACC plays a fundamental role in affective evaluation , conflict monitoring and detection , response selection , and attentional control.
