NHS Health and Wellbeing Framework

Another challenge is to develop a management model within hospital groups that will be more diverse and complex than even the largest of foundation trusts, combining leadership of the group with leadership of the hospitals that make up the group. Although the multi-agency, multi-disciplinary input and the ability to bring in other experts were valued, it was felt that there could be problems when new organisations, or new representatives, came along, in terms of bringing them up-to-date with the intentions and progress of the NCM programme. Selecting the cases is the decision on how to select the cases to study is a very important one that merits some reflection.

Evidence

There were varied opinions amongst the interviewees about the value of MDT meetings.

NHS England » Change Model

The basic proposition of Pettigrew et al. It should build on what it has done so far and take the initiative in its forthcoming consultation to stimulate debate on future approaches to quality regulation across systems of care, keeping in mind the need to simplify regulation and ensure it is proportionate. It is unclear how arrangements in which hospitals run GP practices might develop alongside primary care networks, but we have found no reason to expect it to stop in the foreseeable future.

Do Policy Implementation Support Programmes Work? The Case of the Care Act 2014

A range of adverse consequences were associated with the centrally negotiated contracts, which excluded the hospitals in question. Our fieldwork was limited by the absence of contact with national level politicians, though we did include the major national figures at a non-political level.

Can Primary Care Networks and Models of Vertical Integration Coexist in the NHS?

Given the complexity of the changes, the Department of Health and Social Care and its key partners introduced an Implementation Support

Programme ISP to increase the likelihood of smooth implementation. Theory and research addressing the diffusion of changes in healthcare organisations have accelerated and are pursued across a large, diverse and complex literature and related frameworks and disciplines which seek to explore the contextual factors shaping the implementation process , ; ;.

Can Primary Care Networks and Models of Vertical Integration Coexist in the NHS?

Does it appear individuals were put at risk? The case study approach allows in-depth, multi-faceted explorations of complex issues in their real-life settings.
