Department of Justice Releases Annual Report to Congress on Indian Country Investigations and Prosecutions

It is to be noted that the non-tribal man in the Birbhum case was not just a Muslim but also had a Muslim wife. In some tribes it is exemplified by tribal divisions that represent legal systems prescribing the individual and kin relationships of members and the responsibilities individual and group members have to one another and to the community. Yet, illicit unions between tribal women and non-tribal men in the Santal Parganas have increased.

Public Safety & Justice

The issue is particularly vivid for Melissa Pamp, whose 21-year-old daughter, a citizen of the Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians, was murdered on the Isabella Indian Reservation by a non-Indigenous person in November. Also, in 2004, the ABA adopted a resolution urging adequate funding of federal court systems. We have expanded funding and training opportunities, established more productive protocols based on our government-to-government relationship with the Tribes, and have sought to be more clearly accountable for our efforts...The Tribal Law and Order Act of 2010 has been good for Indian Country and good for those of us working to ensure justice in Indian country.

Offenders are forced to be accountable for their behavior, to face the people whom they have hurt, to explain themselves, to ask forgiveness, and to take full responsibility for making amends. Roundtable participants expressed the opinion that tribal justice systems, including tribal courts and law enforcement, are essential institutions of tribal self-government.

Tribal Justice Systems

Such personnel shall not be subject to the supervision of the Bureau of Indian Affairs Agency Superintendent or Bureau of Indian Affairs Area Office Director. The Working Group also recommended a planning group for such an effort and suggested that within that group should be representatives from the Access and Fairness Advisory Committee, CJER, National Indian Justice Center, Tribal Court Judges, and California Indian Legal Services.

Public Safety & Justice

Leading up to the passage of this policy, the ABA was involved in a number of efforts to ensure adequate funding of state courts. Today, the vast majority of the more than 350 current tribal justice systems function in isolated rural communities. The goal of this project is to educate social workers and other professionals working on Indian Child Welfare Act ICWA cases.
