Moments of Terror: the Story of Antarctic Aviation by David Burke

Your support makes all the difference. This trip was a big deal for most of the people on it. On January 15, 1820, Bellingshausen crossed the Antarctic Circle just west of the Greenwich Meridian.

A Sea Story

It began with the Australian adventurer and World War I hero, Sir Hubert Wilkins, who took off from the rough and ready airstrip on Deception Island and flew briefly above the southern ice on November 16, 1928.

Shackleton's Journey: A Lovely Illustrated Chronicle of History's Most Heroic Polar Expedition

Another significant first took place in 1821. Australia claimed a large chunk of territory in 1933. But their single-minded pursuit of the dog comes off with a warring, life-or-death urgency.

Moments of Terror: The Story of Antarctic Aviation

The one on the left shows Jonathan with Peter Vallance. In February 1913, two-way radio communication was established between Cape Denison and Macquarie Island. This was the first time men had endured the Antarctic winter.

Mount Erebus crash: The untold story of New Zealand's worst air disaster

Aviation ANTARCTIC AVIATION Launched: 9 December 2006. Most of the passengers fled toward the main staircase at the center of the ship, emerging into the large open spaces that surrounded it on every deck, and then crawling or lunging as best they could to gain the banisters and railings.

Operation Highjump

The ship heaved upward and vibrated in the heaviest water, and slammed down into the troughs, sometimes with a crash. Science and Stewardship in the Antarctic.

Erebus: The Story of a Ship by Michael Palin

The effect of the whale slaughter on the Antarctic ecosystem is still under study. But inasmuch as the name has been known and respected for more than 60 years, from Vancouver to San Diego — due to the activity of the late Amadeo Peter Giannini of Bank of Italy and Bank of America fame... So the name dropping author is a relative of the Bank of America founder.
