Wine For Dummies Cheat Sheet

Colour intensity: pale — medium — deep You can assess the colour intensity if you tilt your glass at 45° angle, so that the liquid comes closer to the rim of the glass and see where the colour fades. Step 4: Use your eyes in wine tasting Clarity: look if the wine is clear or hazy.

The Only Wine Chart You'll Ever Need

If the colour from the bottom of the glass starts fading before it reaches the core middle of the glass , the wine has a pale intensity.

A Guide to Pairing: Merlot

Step 8: Ratings I have listed the ratings recommended by WSET in the chart below. Wineries and Vineyards in Cromwell What was once famous for its alluvial goldfields, Cromwell and Bannockburn are nowadays more famous for producing beautiful wines in beautiful places. If the colour pigment goes all the way to the rim of the glass the intensity is deep, everything in the middle is medium intensity.

Wine Tasting Etiquette: Tips for Attending a Wine Tasting Event

Two white wines assessed for colour intensity. You will get an opportunity to try different wines without needing to buy them. You just need to taste a Pinot Noir low tannin , a Malbec or Merlot medium tannin and a Cabernet Sauvignon or Nebbiolo high tannin in the same tasting and you will figure out easily which one is which.
