Healing Racism in America: A Prescription for the Disease by Nathan Rutstein

A Harm Reduction Model , a model that aims to reduce the negative consequences of substance use by prioritizing tackling root causes and the conditions of use, along with the use itself, has been favored by advocates for some time—perhaps most notably during the AIDS crisis. But it caused memory loss, confusion, and sometimes left patients with a sore neck.

Racism and discrimination in health care: Providers and patients

Advances in Health Science Education: Theory and Practice, November 5, 2016. Always seek the advice of your healthcare provider with any questions you may have regarding your medical condition. Demand the fair allocation of community resources.
